Afrotest from Naval officers.

Mr. Anthony presented and had read a memorial from 3,000 officers of the line and staff of the navy representing all gr des of rank from the rear admiral down, protesting against the restoration of officers who have been dismissed for drunkenness, been forcibly relieved or who have resigned to escape court-martial. The memorial was ordered printed in the Record, with the names of the signers. Mr. Sherman presented a protest from many ex-union soldiers against the passage of any bill restoring to the rolls of the army of Fitzjohn Porter.

Logan's education bill.

By unanimous consent the regular order of business was laid aside and Mr. Logan addressed the senate upon the measure introduced by him to appropriate and expend the entire income derived from internal revenue taxes on the manufacture and sale of distilled spirits for the education of all children living in the United States. At the close of Mr. Logan's remarks the bill was referred.

THE GEORGIA NOMINATIONS.

A Surprise Created by Their New Complexion.

A Surprise Created by Their New Complexion.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—[Special.]—The nomination of Pleasants to succeed Collector Wade, and Mr. Farrow to succeed Collins at Brunswick created no little surprise.

THE SITUATION STATED.

When the Georgia syndicate arranged the slate some weeks ago, Pleasants was to supplant Wade, and C. W. Seidell was to be put in at Brunswick. After Clark's removal Farrow and Longstreet went home feeling sure that the programme would be carried out as they planned. The administration soon saw they planned. The administration soon saw the effect of Clark's removal, and learned from Georgia that a continuance on the line thus begun would cause trouble.

WHELEIN THE TROUBLE LAY.

Wade was indorsed by the strongest influences at home, and leading colored men said they preferred him to stay in, and that General McLaws, an avowed democrat, be reported to give place to some representative moved to give place to some representative negro. General Grant stands back of McLaws, and he could not be moved. The administration wavered. It was then thought sorted the thought would avoid avoid avoid avoid avoid. ministration wavered. It was then thought certain that Wade would remain, even if Collins were put out. The delay alarmed the syndicate, and Longstreet hastened to renew the attack. There has been warm work for a colling from the syndicate. several days. Leading Georgia independents have assured the president that his new party in Georgia could best be served by following the advices of the Longstreet-Farrow faction.

The administration has at last surrendered The administration has at last surrendered to the syndicate completely, and the republicans who refuse to rush at once into the coalition need expect nothing.

AVENGING GRANT'S WRONGS.

Arthur is going further. He is trying to avenge Grant's wrongs in Georgia as elsewhere. Wade's sin was friendship for Sherman at Chicago.

WHAT THEY ARE TO DO.

It is thought that Farrow is sent to Brunswick to manage the large negro vote in southern Georgia, and probably to make the race for congress in the first district. Longstreet and Bigby are to manipulate from Atlanta. Several prominent republicans from Georgia express the fear that Arthur has bungled, and the democrats are convinced that he has made a mess of his Georgia policy.

THE WAYFARES CONSIDERED.

What will be done for Seidell does not appear. Carey Thornton claims the indorsement

Mr. McLane appealed from the decision, but subsequently withdrew his appeal, and Mr. Kenna, of West Virginia, rising to a question privilege, offered the following resolution:

THE CHINESE BILL.

The house then resumed the consideration of the Chinese bill, and was addressed by Mr. Willis, of Kentucky, who congratulated the people of California and the people of the whole country that they were at last to receive substantial if not entire relief from the evil ubstantial if not entire relief from the evil of Chinese immigration.

PROBLING THE PERUVIAN SCANDAL.

Mr. Belmont, of New York, offered the following resolution which was agreed to: Resolved, That the committee on foreign affairs be directed to demand from Jacob Shipherd, of New York, copies of all correspondence between himself and any person or persons whatever, and all other evidence in his possession tending to show what said Shipherd did, or attempted to do, to enforce the claims of the Peruvian company, or to induce the United States to enforce these claims organist Peru.

Mr. King, of Louisiana, presented a petition from the people of Louisiana relating to the overflow of the Mississippi river. The senate concurrent resolution looking to the settlement of the Nicaraguan claims was adopted, and the house adjourned.

The Iroquois club is a newly organized body, and comprises the best democrats in the city, and this event is its first formal introduction to the attention of the outside world. The visitors were about the city during the day and later in the afternoon a very important reception was held, where political questions were avoided. At eight o'clock in the evening, the club and its guests, including a large number of local democrats, not members of the club, assembled in the large dining room of the Palmer house, which was appropriately decorated, and partook of a superb banquet The speeches, while necessarily linked with political matter, were in reality not politically significant. During the evening telegrams and letters were read from those who were invited, but were not present.

MR. TILDEN'S LETTER.

Samuel J. Tilden sent the following let-

GRYSON, N. Y.. March 11—Gentlemen: I have received your letter conveying to me an invitation to attend the banquet of the iroquois club in Chicago, the 15th inst., the anniversary of the birth of Andrew Jackson, and to respond to the toast, bemocracy. It will not be practicable for me to be present with you on that occasion, but I corduily sympathize in the homage which you propose to pay to the memory of that great soldier and statesman. He represented

THE EXULTANT NATIONALITY of sentiment which had always characterized the democracy, and he manifested in a great public spirit his own unalterable determination to maintain the territorial integrity of our country and the indissoluble union of the states. He likewise represented the beneficent Jeffersonian philosophy which prefers that nothing shall be done by the general government which the local authorities are competent to do, and nothing by any government as a power which individuals can do for themselves. The great contests of his administration arose out of his efforts to resist the usurpation by congress of powers in derogation of the rights of local gove.nment and of individuals, as well as those of the constitution. I well remember that in the debate in 1832 on his veto of the bill to re-charter the bank of the United States, Mr Webster, with all his cloquence,

S. J. RANDALL.
S. J. Ex-Governor Hendrick's spoke as follows:

the great extent of our country. The same flag remains over us."; [Applause.]

He then described the journey over the return by Washington? Perhaps it would be of interest to witness some of the strife between the belligerent elements of the republican party. My sympathies were with the stalwarts. I thought them the more sincere and honest, and also they seemed to be the under dog in the fight. Our journey is now ended. What have we observed? This we can say, our country is great and strong population. We have journeyed among people and observed their characteristics. Engaged in useful and honorable industry, they fill the valleys. Seeking homes, subsistence and wealth, leys. Seeking homes, subsistence and wealth, they climb the mountain sides. The great qualities that characterize our people are the result. qualities that characterize our people are the result, as I suppose, of the commingling of the blood of the strongest nations. They are irresistible in the pursuits of peace; invincible in war. Barbarism in Russia and cruelty in England will stimulate a spirit of immigration to these states from all parts of Europe, and our population will be increased at a greater rate than ever. We have also observed in our journey a great variety of clia greater late than ever. We have also observed in our journey a great variety of climate, of soil and of production. Each section is developing those industries to which it is best educated.

> You, gentlemen, who have never before traveled over the great northwest, have seen with wonder and admiration the extent and value of our agricultural productions, while with wonder and admiration the extent and value of our agricultural productions, while we of the north have rejoiced at the increased cotton growth of the south. We all rejoice in the fact that the sections maintain honorable and friendly rivalry for the success in their respective productions. Cotton in the south and corn in the north, each claim to be king. They are so great and so powerful, and contribute so largely to hold the balance of trade in our favor with other countries, that each may well claim a sceptre in excellence of quality and in the quantity produced. Each is almost the exclusive product of the country, and each may securely rely upon the wants of mankind to supply a market. That product which always commands a market is king. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, while with grateful pride we are considering the past of our country, and the great variety and enormous value of its productions, we are astonished that the purest of our patriots and the wisest of our statesmen have expressed their fears and profound anxiety lest out of these shall come jealousy and antagonism.

EX-Senator McDonald's letter said that the foundations of a great government cannot be too often examined, nor the landmarks of power too steadily kept in view. On discovering the forgery warrants were sued out, placed in hands of W. F. Adamson, constable of the district. Mr. Adamson found the defendants at Morrow's station and arrested the one named Monroe Bloom. On being informed that he was under arrest, he jerked loose from Adamson, sprang back, drew a pistol and replied, "not by a d—d sight," and snapped his pistol full at Adamson, and retreated to a small sappling, then fired at Adamson, missing him, when Adamson immediately returned the fire with his pistol. Just at this time the other negro, John Brown, came to the rescue of Bloom, took the pistol from him, and retreated around the corner of a little mann boyse, and from there fired at Mr. guano house, and from there fired at Mr. Adamson once or twice. Adamson stood his ground and returned each fire until both the ground and returned each fire until both the negroes retreated to the woods. Adamson then came to Jonesboro to get the sheriff and his hounds, and procured a good double-barrelled shot-gun. On his return to the station with a friend he met the negro, John Brown, and when in 30 or 40 yards of him ordered him to give up and surrender. Like a man he replied, "Not by a 4—d sight," drew the pistol which he had taken from his comrade and prepared to fire, but Adamson "got the drop on him," and it is thought sprinkled him liberally with bird shot. John left and chase was made, but our country dogs being yet very young, the chase was ineffectual.

FINDING THE DEAD MAN. On going back to the station it was ascer-tained that the negro Munroe Bloom was lying dead 250 yards in the woods from the lying dead 250 yards in the woods from the station. He was shot through, the ball entering the right side a little below and to the rear of the nipple. An inquest was held, and the verdict of the coroner's jury completely justified and exhoroated Adamson, the bailiff, who is a good citizen and makes a first-rate officer, and it is very well understood that when a paper is placed in his hands the detendant, if he wishes to avoid arrest must avoid his bailiwick. THE BODY FOUND.

About 7 o'clock this morning, a body was found lodged in the Etowah river at the foot of Broad street, about fifty feet from the bridge. The body was considerably swollen and discolored, but was easily recognized as that of Bud Harris, who had so mysteriously disappeared two weeks before. No marks of violence could be discovered, except some bruises on the forehead, which may have been caused by falling on some hard substance. A coroner's jury was immediately summoned, Judge Thomas G. Watters, acting coroner, presiding. The jury examined a number of wifnesses, whose evidence I have briefly outlined, and then adjourned for one week. lined, and then adjourned for one week.

WHO HE WAS. Harris was about twenty-two years of age, of fair character and average intelligence, and his strange disappearance, the peculiar cir-cumstances surrounding it, and the finding cumstances surrounding it, and the finding of the body to-day, have given rise to much comment and many theories. But it would hardly be proper to publish further comment until the coroner's jury completes its labors.

TWO TEMPERANCE WARNINGS.

Two Horrible Accidents, Both Brought About by Drinking.

Columbus Enquirer-Sun. A most horrible tragedy occurred on the Mobile and Girard railroad yesterday which caused a negro man to lose his life. Yesterday morning at six o'clock No. 5 freight train, going west, left this city for Montgomery. When it reached a point near Suspension, between the 45th and 46th mile posts, the engineer saw a man on the track, lying with head on the rail. The man was asleep, but the train had just climbed a grade and was so near him that it was impossible to stop before reaching him. The train passed over him, cutting off the top of his head. His name was Allen Cunningham, and

He sat down on the side of the track and soon was in a drunken stupor. He was and soon was in a drunken stupor. He was sitting with his head bending forward and when he went to sleep he fell with his head track. When the train came along it took off the entire top part of his head and scattered the brains around for some distance. A coroner's inquest was held and a verdict found in accordance with the above facts, and exonerating the railroad officials from any blame. Here is another strong temperance sermon and another warning against the careless and inexcusable habit of sitting down on the railroad.

Mrs. Farr will be 53 years of age in blackberry time, is 5 feet 2½ inches high, weighs 234 pounds and has a corn on the little toe of her left foot. She got off the cars on the evening mentioned and started up to Mr. Curtis's to spend the night. When she arrived at Mr. Curtis's she marched when she arrived at Mr. Curtis's she marched around the back way, climbed up on top of the fence and jumped down—in the back yard? Well, not much. She struck a sheet of water about ten feet below, and the water-spout that flew out of that hole in the ground deluged the face of the earth. When she got through exploring the best she got through exploring the bot-tom she came to the surface, formed the acquaintance of the well-rope and con-cluded to holler. Soon a crowd of brave cluded to holler. Soon a crowd of brave men and muddy women were gazing down at the undulating person of Mrs. Farr, as it moved on the face of the deep. A derrick was quickly improvised and a rope lowered—but nere a great difficulty presented itself. The fair dame was found to taper in every direction from the middle. In fact she was big at little and bottom at ton. No rope of ordications. at little and bottom at top. No rope of ordi-nary intelligence could be relied on to hold its grip under the circumstances, and the by-standers stood in awe of another deluge in case of a slip. But they tarred and sanded the rope, tied it under her arms and the elevating commenced. The water im-mediately sunk five feet three inches. The mediately sunk five feet three inches. The old lady changed ends several times in coming up, but when they dumped her out in the mud she still held to the sack of flour, and her basket had lost nothing but the ball of thread. When they headed her up, like a barrel, she looked very much like ten bushels of mud in a five bushel sack, and she was very moist. As Mr. Irving very forcibly remarked, "she was in a damp bad fix." But they rubbed her down with kerosene and rolled her in hot ashes, and she is now receiving the congratulations of her friends. TRUE LOVERS' TRIAL.

running when in the performancial duties.

Rome, March 16.—[Special.]—About two weeks ago a white man mysteriously disappeared named Bud Harris, residing in this county. It seems that he had come to Rome with a load of shingles which he sold and left his wagon in south Rome at a well known wagon yard. He then came back to town, and was last seen about eleven o'clock that night at a saloon in this city. He went out of the saloon with two men, strangers, whom the monorietor did not know. This large the way of young gentlemen left their fair ones. We have often heard of obstacles in the way of young lovers consummating their the way of young lovers consummating the the way of young lovers consummating their gantic work and will supply a new and rich plans, but never knew of such an one as these young men encounted after night had drawn her ebony, wet curtain around the earth. As they drove along a lane that was scarcely wide enough for a team to get through successfully; on reaching the creek they found that the waters had left the banks.

Macon, March 16.—[Special.]—The remains they found that the waters had left the banks of the creek and started out to meet them. The horse came to a halt, and a vivid glare of lightning disclosed the fact that the water had taken the fence for eight or ten panels from its bed and set in the middle of the road. The question then was how to get the fence out of the road, the water being about 5 feet leep. It was agreed that one should get out and move the fence while the other held the horse. So the one whose lot it was to take the water, dishabilled himself save his shirt, and like a man tackled the almost floating fence. He seemed to be especially concerned about his "soxs" as he requested his chum to put them safely in his overcoat pocket. One by one the rails were moved till the road was clear and the horse and buggy carried safely brough the water.

Now all we have to say is that if young ladies cannot find vim, determination and resolute will enough in a man who can re-move ten panels of fence from the bed of a ive foot creek between the intervals of lighthve foot creek between the intervals of light-ning, we do not know where she would go to find a hubbie. We would give the young men's names, but we fear they would be be-sieged by the young ladies. We would like to ask if it was not rather cool work? Well, if the girls cannot appreciate this young man's effort, we would suggest to the farmers that he would be an admirable auxiliary in putting into operation the "No Fence" law.

BROWN'S IRON BUTTERS.

No Whiskey!

Brown's Iron BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

Brown's Iron Bitters is guaranteed to be a nonintoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

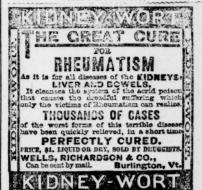

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881. Gents:—The foolish wast-ing of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hun-dreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

Brown's Iron Bitters has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

OVER TWO THOUSAND PERSONS have by our methods of treatment under our personal guidance been entirely restored to health without administering a single dose of either Mineral. BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER.

Below we make a few remarks on

and as we know they are facts we ask all interested to read them carefully

THESE ARE THE REMARKS

THESE ARE FACTS!

Not long since certain parties in Macon, who had a married daughter living in an adjoining county, received a letter from a physician saying that their daughter was nearly gone with Consumption, the right Lung entirely gone and the left somewhat affected, and urged them to come to see her at once as she was liable to die at any momet. Before starting they bought three bottles of having heard it highly spoken of. Whey they saw her they were perfectly shocked at her condition; she had fallen away to skin and bones, and could not sleep or rest in any, position. They told the doctor they wanted to give her the Lung Restorer, which he readily consented to, as he had tried everything he could think of. They gave it to her and she began to improve after the fourth dose and continued to do so until she is now pronounced.

CURED.

She gained about FIFTY POUNDS while using seven bottles. Another instance of its good effects came to our knowledge a few days ago: An old gentleman about 65 years old gained eighteen pounds while using three bottles.

These were desperate cases and we believe that these two parties alone will be the means of our seiling thousands of bottles of BREWER'S LUNG-RESTORER, as they take every opportunity of letting others know of its wonderful effects.

BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER. It Will Cure Your Cough.

One bottle of Brewer's Lung Restorer cured me of Bronchitis in a week's time. I intend keeping it in my house all the time, as I consider it a valuable medicine.

Yours respectfully,
HENRY G. DAVIS.

IT NEVER FAILS.

Convincing Evidence.

This is to certify that I had Asthma for thirty-five years and used a great many different kinds of medicine. Was treated five years without finding relief. I then used your Lung Restorer and found in it a permanent cure. Very truly yours, Z. J. PARKS.

ASTHMA CURED.

Troubled for a Long Time.

I had been troubled for a long time, before using Brewer's Lung Restorer, with some-hing like Ashma, and after using only two bottles of your medicine I breathed perfectly free and have feltno symptom of the disease since. I am confident your medicine cured me. and I cheerfully recommend it to all who are suffering with Ashma.

Yours truly, JOHN D. ROSS.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar—Gentlemen:
You will remember my going '2 you some time since and getting two bottles of Brewer's Lung Restorer for a friend who was down in the bed, hardly able to move, and I promised to let you know its effects. I will say that this gentleman who used it was up in a week's time and looked two hundred per cent better than he had in months, and I hope will be entirely cured of the disease.

Yours respectfully,

F. T. ABLE.

Bronchitis Cured.

Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar—Gentlemen: My little girl 8 years old, has been for some time troubled with a severe cough, which physicians pronounced bronchitis. She slept but little, coughing the entire night, and we had to get up very often to help her out, the cough was so severe. At your solicitation I bought a bottle of Brewer's Lung Restorer, and she began to improve at once and has been sleeping nicely ever since, and I firmly believe she will be permanently cured. I was vesy much frightened at her condition not long since, but am now rejoicing at her rapid recovery.

Yours truly,

GEO. F. WING,

HEMORRHAGES STOPPED.

It gives me great pleasure to certify to the merits of Brewer's Lung Restorer, as I have used it and found it all you represented it to be. My lungs were affected to some extent, and I had a hacking cough, often spitting up blood, which at times would amount to a hemorrhage, and I became very much frightened at my condition. I bought several bottles of the Brewer's Lung Restorer, and have been entirely cured by its use, and feel satisfied that it is permanent, as I've had no symptoms of the disease since. I am satisfied that this medicine will prove a great blessing to the people. If you would introduce it into the northern states it would make your fortunes. Yours truly. make your fortunes. Yours truly.
HENRY WOOTEN.

BREWER'S LUNG RESTORER.

Having suffered greatly for about three years from severe throat and lung affection, I was advised by Mrs. Professor Dozier to try Brewer's Lung Restorer. Not having any faith in patent medicines I was rejuctant to give it a trial, but finally yielding to persuasion I purchased half-dozen bottles, and after a fair trial I take pleasure in declaring that I have been wonderfully benefited, and pronounce Brewer's Lung Restorer' a blessing to those afficted with throat and lung affections.

For months during my affliction I was unable to lie down to rest; my breathing was so difficult that a constant wheezing noise could be heard across the room, and my friends were concerned for my life. All the sleep obtained during this time, (necessarily broken and unsansfactory), was in a sitting posture, but now I can recline with ease, and my repose is natural and pleasant.

Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar—Gents: Willyou allow me to tell you something in regard to your Brewer's Lung Kestorer? The lot you shipped me some time ago has been on my shelf since their arrival, until a few days ago, when the following circumstances occurred:

Mrs. James Coleman, while on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Conner, was taken very ill and thought she would die with a case of bronchitis and consumption of long standing. There was no physician to be had, the nearest points being Dublin and Mt. Vernon, both about twenty miles distant. They sent over to the store for something that would give relief. I gave them a bottle of Brewer's Lung Restorer and told them that if it did no good they need not pay for it. The resalt was that in fity-six hours she was able to go home, about twenty-one miles; and I have sold several bottles to-day to parties who know of this circumstance. Mr. A. H. McCremmon bought a bottle and found almost instant relief. The sale of your medicine is assured in this section as I shall hereafter warrant it to cure.

How George McGilpin, an 18 Year Old Pennsylvan Nipped Timely at the Outset of a Car Like Billy the Kid-The Result of Reading Dime Novels.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 15 .- There is now in prison here a young fellow named George McGilpin, between 18 and 19 years of age, who was nippid untimely at the outset of a career which he evidently designed to rival or surpass that of Billy the Kid. Last Monday he called at the house of Mr. A. P. McIlvain, near Bellemonte, to pay his respects to the family, for whom he had worked as a hired boy a year or two ago. He was kindly received and remained with the family as a guest until Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, at which time he aroused the family by moaning and who was nippid untimely at the outset of a time he aroused the family by moaning and groaning and complaining of being seriously ill. Mr. McIlvain went down stairs to get some old brandy to relieve him. On entering McGilpin's room the latter drank the brandy handed back the glass and then, slipping be hind Mr. McIlvain, locked the door, drew s hind Mr. McIlvain, locked the door, drew a heavy revolver, pointed it at McIlvain's breast and commanded him not to utter a word on peril of his life. Astonished and alarmed, Mr. McIlvain said, "George, don't shoot ne," at the same instant throwing up his arms and dashing aside the pistol.

A scuffle ensued, during which McIlvain got McGilpin's finger in his mouth and bit it severely; but his artificial teeth were not strong enough to retain his prisoner. The noise made during the scuffle alarmed Mrs. McIlvain, who hastened down stairs and vigorously rang the large farm bell, the signal usually used among farmers to let their neighusually used among farmers to let their neigh bushally used among farmers to let their neighbors know that something is wrong. McGilpin, breaking away from McIlvain, ran down stairs with the design of escaping. But meantime, the neighbors, aroused by the bell, were hurrying to the house from all quarters, and McGilpin ran up stairs and jumped into bed. Among the first to arrive on the scene was William. Taylor, who notwith William Taylor, who, notwith-standing Mr. McIlvain's remonstrance and fears that McGilpin would shoot him, insisted on going up stairs and ar resting the robber; and up he went and dragged him by the hair from his bed. McGilpin at once feigned insanity; but he was secured and disarmed, and taken by the crowd that had assembled, to the office of W. C. Frew, of Paradise, where he was given a hearing. Among the effects were found the large revolver that he had drawn on Mr. McIlvain. and a smaller one, both being very finely fin-ished pieces; two boxes of cartridges to fit the pistols; also a very fine and formidable bowle-knife and belt; four masks, a heavy bowle-knite and belt; four masks, a neavy false beard of a reddish gray color, a fine com-pass, a bottle of ether and a sponge, a very fine Sheffield razor, a gold Masonic cross, a gold breastpin in the form of a gun, another in the form of a pistol, a fine gold pencil case, two handkerchiefs, and some papers and letters McGilpin continued to feign insanity during the hearing until the magistrate was about to open a sealed letter, when he suddenly said:

"Don't open that letter; it is my private property and you have no right to break the seal." The magistrate opened the letter, which was written by the prisoner and addressed to his mother, who lives in Philadelphia. The writer informs his mother that he had got in trouble at Phenixville, where he had been working recently: that it was he had been working recently; that it was not safe for him to remain in this part of the country; that he was going to inclose her twenty-five dollars, and then start for San Antonio, Texas, to see his brother Will; that hereafter he was going to be a good boy and would not give his parents any more trouble. Another paper found among Merouble. trouble. Another paper found among McGilpin's effects was an oath drawn up, but not signed. It was his intention to make Mr. McIlvain sign it after he had robbed him. It is to the effect that the subscriber does most solemnly swear before Almighty God, and on this Bible, that he "will never publish, nor cause to be published, nor in any manner whatsoever divulge anything that transpires in this house to-night."

McGilpin was employed in the Inquirer printing office in Lancaster, where the only thing especially noticed about him was his inveterate devotion to novel reading, especially of the yellow variety. After the hearing he confessed that it was his intention to chloroform Mr. and Mrs. McIlvain, rob them of all the money and jewelry he could find, and, if they should awake and resist him before he had finished the job, he would make them sign the oath as above, and on their refusal to do so would shoot them. It was then his intention to send as much money as he could share to his mother and in this house to-night. money as he could spare to his mother, and then make his way to the far west.

COLOR-LINE AT THE WHITE HOUSE How Mrs. Senator Bruce Was Treated by the Wives of Leading Republicans.

Washington letter to the New York World. When all has been said of the stinginess the cant, the lack of dignity and general appearance of a want of fitness of things that characterized the social regime of the Hayeses. characterized the social regime of the Hayeses, an exception must he made in favor of the reception given once every winter to the diplomatic corps. These were really handsome and dignified parties. They were strictly confined to the members of the diplomatic corps, the cabinet, the judges of the supreme court and court of claims, officers of the army and navy of a certain rank, and sentence and their court c senators and representatives and their families, making in all 2 crowd of 1,500 persons. Among the most conspicuous persons at the final party given last year was Bruce, the colored senator from Mississippi. It was his last appearance in white society. He was accompanied by his wife, a handsome quadroon, and by a woman as black as night, in a white satin dress, low-neck and short-rleeved. Nothing more amazing was ever seen in Washington society than this last figure. Socially the colored senator was as well behaved as he was notifically but it was amazing. Socially the colored senator was as well behaved as he was politically, but it was amazing so see how much afraid the republicans were of giving him or his wife any social recognition in public. The democratic representatives, took a malicious delight in speaking to Mrs. Bruce when her friends, the northern republicans, gave her a cold nod, and it was observed once at a reception, where there were many prominent republicans, that the only woman who spoke a word to her was the wife of a southern member, who seeing her standing alone and unnoticed courher standing alone and unnoticed cour-teously went up and addressed some remarks to her. Now nobody hears a whisper of the former senator, although he lives here. A more remarkable colored man whisper of the former senator, although he lives here. A more remarkable colored man in Washington is Wormley, the proprietor of the hotel of that name, which is acknowledged to be the best kept house in the city. Of Mr. Wormley, to his honor be it told, that if the members of his former master's family would have allowed it his house and his purse were theirs. The first use he made of his prosperity was to bring his old mistress to his fine hotel and to give her the best room in it, and, on hearing that a granddaughter of his master was in Washington in a government office, he went to her, invited her to make his house her home, and when she told him she could not accept that, he proposed that she should pay him what she would have to pay in a boarding house and take the best his house afforded. "Don't you know," she answered, "that if it were known that I lived at Wormley's it would be said that my poverty was a pretense and i should lose my office in a week? And if I explained how I lived there nobody would believe that 'so much disinterestedness existed in the world."

TWAIN INTERVIEWS HIMSLE: How the Innecent Humorist Simplified the Work of a Reporter.

Attired in a business suit of gray cheviot and looking bright and active, Samuel L

Clemens ("Mark Twain") leaned over the desk in the office of the hotel Brunswick this morning, and said with a drawl: "Somebody down here wants me?" Four men who had sent up their cards to the humorist addressed him at once. The first person to secure an audience was an agent for a local photographer. He was a tall, strong man, somewhat Mr. Clemens's superior in physique, and the latter appeared to feel that it was probably better to hear the representative of the picture maker in patience.

Suddenly Mark Twain grew restless, and said: "My dear sir, life is too short for having one's picture taken, unless you do it by electricity. I have made out a schedule of

New York long, and I shall answer, 'No, sir.'
Isn't that your scheme?"
The reporter replied that such might have een his intention "Or," continued Mr. Clemens, "you would want to know what work I am engaged in, want to know what work I am engaged in, and I should reply. 'I am writing several books which will take, at the way I am working now, about five years to complete.' Perhaps you might ask me a question about Oscar Wilde, or Roscoe Conkling, or Blaine, or the obelisk, and I should answer: 'I have no opinion on those deep subjects.' Seriously, young man, I am saving myself the infliction of another interview by telling you that I am f another interview by telling you that I am in New York and expect to be in Washington by Monday, for the purpose of talking with the bright lights there on the subject of copyright. I have been told that this is a good time to introduce the subject at the national capital.

"There appears to be a mystery about your copyright scheme," rejoined the reporter. "What is the nature of it?" 'Please excuse me from telling you. I have a copyright scheme that I think will protect me, I wouldn't divulge it for the world. It would upset all my well laid plans, if I did. It's a deep scheme, a deep scheme," and Mr. Clemens looked at the bell-boys who were staring at him.

"Has it anything to do with the proposed international copyright," asked the reporter. "It has not." "Has it anything to do with the Canadian matter?" "It has."

"How long will it be before you can explain the nature of this copyright scheme?" "I will see you later."

At this point Mr. Clemens vanished through a back door.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION is published every day, except Monday, and is delivered by carriers in the city, or mailed postage free at $1 per month $2 50 for three months, or $10 a year.

THE CONSTITUTION is for sale on all trains leading out of Atlanta, and at news stands in the principal southern cities.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 17, 1882.

THE signal service bureau report indicates for Georgia to-day, local rains, and partly cloudy, cooler weather, northeast to south east winds, and higher barometer. COLONEL FARROW has been nominated as collector at Brunswick. Thus the colonel's salition wins another victory over the reguar republicans. An important mining enterprise at Dahlon egt is reported to-day. It is a great undertak ing and one that will make a great improve ment in the mining district. ATLANTA needs a cotton exchange. The meeting of yesterday was a step in the right direction, and the gentlemen who form the committee on organization are good men for THE republican representatives in caucus have resolved against any reduction of the internal revenue taxes on whisky and tobacco. This is another makeshift in avoidance of the tariff question. No Georgia bills were presented on Monday. This is an indication that the crop is exhausted. There are, however, hundreds on file from this state, and the state will not suffer even if the supply of bills is a little short this season. *THE seamy side of life plays no small part in our state news to-day. Shootings, drownings and fires make up the burden of the tale. The shooting of two men, two fires, and two or possibly three, murders are more than often to be found in one issue of any Georgia paper.

A good idea of how Atlanta grows is shown in the proposed work in the burned district. One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars are already laid aside by owners for rebuilding in a more attractive and substantial style; and the activity and readiness to go to work again at once is a promising sign of the state of business.

Tur makeshift blunder who sits as speaker of the national house of representatives, is getting the hard treatment that he deserves. He is ignorant of the duties of his position and arbitrary in rulings, which he makes purely partisan. The resolution of censure introduced yesterday by Mr. Kenna were highly deserved.

SENATOR BROWN continues to lay before the senate petitions for appropriations to improve the harbors of Savannah and Brunswick. If the work of procuring petitions at this end of the line is kept up, it is safe to say that our junior senator will see that the work at the Washington end does not flag. The two Georgia harbors have in him a friend who will be very apt to accomplish something.

REPUBLICAN secretaries of the navy have been grossly unfit for their position; and it is not surprising that 3,000 officers have presented petitions protesting against the restodrunkenness. Corruption and favoritism have played havoc with the navy, as with the army,until neither are a credit to the people, although many of the officers are.

FRANKING has again been adopted in the senate by Mr. Edmunds's amendment to the postal appropriation bill. The excuse for acceptance of the amendment probably will be 'such a little one," two ounces being the limit of weight which can go free. As franking is practically in force now, so far as public documents go, the addition of letters will make no great difference; except that economical members will now divide their washing into two-ounce packages instead of four pounds.

WORTH county has been added to the number of counties which prohibit the sale of inmakes forty-one, we believe, of the hundred and thirty-seven counties in the state in which prohibition prevails. The growth of the temperance movement is steady and giving even impartial consideration to demohealthy. It is not an irritating element as is the case elsewhere, but one in which a deep personal interest is taken everywhere; and in our state news to-day will be found a number of instances showing how necessary a curb on intemperance is needed. •

THE pale-faced Iroquois of Chicago celebrated on Wednesday their semi-centennial anniversary, and the occasion was one of free expressions as to the future course of the Iroquois, who are to a man Jacksonian democrats. Tilden and Hendricks made their appearance together; the one by letter and the other in person. Mr. Tilden's letter is clear and statesmanlike, and as loud in its advocacy of retorm as ever before. His statement "that nothing shall be done by the general 'government which the local authorities are mpetent to do, and nothing by any gov-'do for themselves," puts the Jeffersonian Hawaiian treaty that the rice and sugar theory as concisely and truly as it has ever planters were in imminent danger of being enunciated. Governor Hendrick's erality order, still it is sound doctrine. The whole meeting was encouraging and hopeful. case. We give below the official statement

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE FARMERS We have gratifying evidences that the work of The Constitution in urging the farmers to diversify their crops and make their arms self-sustaining is bringing good re-

The remarkable series of letters, written by ctical farmers concerning their neighbors ey see them is the most conclusive testiony ever given upon any one subject. The Tallow... its of Atlanta have arranged to have these letters, covering nearly every county in the state, printed in pamphtet form and circulated by the thousand among the country merchants and farmers. There is no use in circulating argument, but facts always count.

It may be noted just here that many country merchants have adopted as an inflexible rule of business to credit no farmer who does not raise measurably at least his own proviscrops. This policy will generally adopted in the fu ture, and must finally become the general rule of business. Cotton has proved the curse, while it is the glory and strength of the south. It has impoverished our lands and bankrupted our farmers, just as tobacco has ruined niddle Carolina and Virginia. Any money crop cultivated exclusively means disaster. But with the farms devoted first to the raising of enough corn and meat, hay, fruit and vegetables to support the farmer, his family, his hands and his stock, and cotton then raised as the surplus or money crop, it is the nost profitable staple crop in the world. It will be noticed from our letters that every man who makes his farm self-supporting and cotton his surplus, has prospered and accumulated money. It is our chief anxiety that our farmers shall learn this truth and profit by it, before their lands are sold under mortgage and a shrewd lot of outsiders have taken their places. We print another batch of letters this morning.

Among those who were called upon for uggestions at the banquet of the Iroquois club, Thursday night, was Mr. Henry Wat erson, who in the midst of his other enagements, is the editor of the Courier-Jour nal. The address of Mr. Watterson, printed in The Constitution of vesterday, has no doubt attracted the attention and interest of our readers. In some respects, indeed-certainly in one respect—the address is noteworthy. We may differ with Mr. Watterson as to the wording of his tariff ideas, though we do not differ materially with his purposes The phrase "a tariff for revenue only" is very unhappy one; its meaning is easily obscured or distorted: and it does not express with exactness even the position of Mr. Watterson. As a campaign slogan (to soar after a word) it must be accompanied by explanations and an explanation is a confession of weakness. Mr. Watterson expressly disavows the phrase, but whoever invented it betrayed a distressing lack of the gift of expression. We may object (and we do most strenuously) to the proposition to reduce the public debt to one thousand millions and make it per petual. But in spite of these objections, the address of Mr. Watterson is full of meat. It is not only in one respect noteworthy, as we have said, bu it is timely, and bold, and true. Mr. Watterson spoke to the sentiment "The demo-'cratic press," and he begun his address by lamenting the fact that the democratic press is no longer a power in the land, that it is divided, irresolute and purposeless.

To those who take even a passing interes in current political journalisms. Mr. Watterson's description will promptly commend it self. At the north, where it is absolutely necessary for the leaders of the democratic party to make an impression upon the public nind, the democratic press, relatively speaking, is moribund. There are excellent democratic papers at the north, but their strength and enterprise are wasted and dissipated against the wonderful influence of the opposition press. Where there is one flourishing democratic newspaper at the north there are fifty republican journals. New York is democratic city, but how do the circulation and influence of the World compare with the combined circulation and influence of the Times, the Tribune, the Herald, the Sun and the Evening Post? The ratio may be described by comparing the value of a unit to the aggregate value of five hundred thousand on of officers who have been broken for units. And yet the World is a very interesting newspaper.

The fact to which Mr. Watterson alludes is one of tremendous import. It is more important, even, than Mr. Watterson is willing to confess. It is either the cause or the result of republican success, and, in either case, it is a fact that must be disposed of before the democratic party can hope to score a success. It condition of affairs in a campaign in favor of "a tariff for revenue only." This remedy seems to us to be decidedly homopathic. It reminds us of the remarks of an Atlanta street-car driver recently. What kind of doctors is them that carries around these little 'pills about the size of a gnat's heart?" Being told that they were homopaths, he inquired further: "How many do it take to skeer off a chill?" The car-driver was seekdoxicating liquors within their limits. This ing information, and so are we. How many campaigns of this sort, and how many issues will be required to change public opinion at the north and bring it around to the point of cratic arguments?

We are anxious-and our anxiety in this regard has grown gray, since the democrats refused when in power in congress to set the ball in motion-to see the tariff issue made on the broad ground of a just and reasonable reduction of duties, but a campaign made on the issue of "a tariff for revenue only." is doomed from the start, for the sufficient rea son that the "slogan" is neither clear nor expressive. But all this is beating the wind. It may be said now that neither THE CONSTITU-TION nor any other southern democratic paper will be consulted when the statesmen who have so often led the party to defeat meet together to arrange the programme; but we Cleaned rice..... There is nothing in this table to alarm any interest in this country, not even that of rice and sugar production. Certainly no injury from the treaty to the rice industry has taken place, for last year we imported 42,174,509 ounds of rice upon which duties ranging rom 70 to 105 per cent were collected, while we got only 6,986,306 pounds of free rice under the dreadful treaty. Our rice planters are therefore in no present danger of a flood of cheap rice. The sugar planters are not worse off than the rice men, and neither has as yet any just complaint to make against the treaty; for its operation has not thus far lesened their profits, and probably never will.

The real opposition to the treaty does not ome so much from Louisiana and South Carolina as from certain eastern refining interests, who desire to crush out the rising refineries of San Francisco. At the same time they would, without desiring to do so, check the growth of our merchant marine in the only direction that it has shown any growth whatever. The tonnage of vessels in the Hawaiian trade has been han Isomely increased, and an abrogation of the treaty would leave us without a single gain of shipping engaged in the foreign trade. As the treaty s working no harm to any of our interests, it would seem to be foolish to blot it out, inasnuch as we would reap from its repeal a loss of trade and a loss of the close relations that now exist between the Pacific slope and the islands of the little kingdom.

THE HIX HOMICIDE. Owing to the impossibility of getting full infornation in the city as to the killing of John Hix near Laurenceville, a staff correspondent of The constitution, has been sent to the scene of the killing to get the story from eye witnesses. He will carefully ascertain the facts and report them impar

In the meantime the officials in Atlanta are duml and refuse to say anything, except Collector Clark, who wrote that he declines to say more than that two of his men were assigned to duty with Deputy Marshal Bolton for the purpose of making seizure of an illicit distillery that was seized in ecordance with the law.

It has een truly said that these worthy people, in their famous act of dodging around and hiding the demijohn from the other doctors and nurses, have had few superiors and no equals.

A Full Bench at Last. New York Herald.

The nomination of Judge Samuel Blatchford renoves the last remaining vacancy in the suprem ourt from the arena of discussion, for it doubtles will be quickly and probably unanimously con will be quickly and probably unanimously confirmed. It is not a brilliant nomination. It belongs to the same class of appointments as that of Judge Woods, which was made by President Hayes; but it is very respectable, and it advances an industrious, experienced and highly esteemed magistrate in the regular order of promotion. Judge Blatchford is older than is desirable, but he is sound in health and not only capable of more diligent labor than many a younger man, but irresistibly disposed to it by his temperament. The court secures in him "a working judge."

Whatever may be the motive or the inspiration of these attacks upon the character of the late pres ident, they will have no effect except to make the nillions who admire the character and reverence millions who admire the character and reverence the memory of the dead president more indignant, and to cause them to regard his opponents with something of detestation. In tens of thousands of homes in this broad land, those of the rich as well as those of the humble, the picture of Garfield is placed beside that of Lincoln. The reverence and love of the people for the last martyr is only second to that for the first. Admiring millions—the best in the land—hold the memory of these men in grateful remembrance. For generations the story of their lives will be household words; while the only effect of these fiendish attempts upon the reputation of the murdered Garfield will be to bring him afresh before the millions who will continue to admire him and to regard his post-mortem assailants with something of that detestation which they have for his convicted assessin.

THE IAY GOULD LEGEND.

New York Times.

The stock market suddenly wheeled and went up yesterday, though not until the bears had knocked prices around after a lively fashion in the early ours. Mr. Cammack's "Providence" seemed to have lost its grip; so also did Mr. Cammack's brokers, and along the whole line-Jersey Central alone excepted-quotations bounded up the scale from on till the stock exchange gavel thundered on the chairman's desk at 3 o'clock. "The public has covered confidence," gleefully cried the bulls. "It is a swindling manipulation," grunted the "There is going to be a steady rise right along," insisted the horned operators. "Everything will go to the deuce within twenty-four hours,' lolorously assented the grizzlies. It is certain that horns unexpectedly appeared upon many a forehead where they were litt ected yesterday. Mr. James Keene, whose status has recently been even more puzzling than usual was reported to have gone back on his first love Cammack, and was accredited with sentimer strangely and strongly akin to the Sage-Gould soothing syrups. Other operators somewhat les rominent than the owner of Foxhall were said to have flopped from the bear camp into bull pastures The big bears branded this as a wicked misrepre sentation, and said that there was no break in thei ranks nor likely to be so long as no money was to be made in fighting Providence. But for all the denials there was the fact existing that buyers were nore numerous than sellers, and that all the en thusiasm was upon the bull side. Mr. Jay Gould and Mr. William H. Vanderbilt have recently been dinning out together. On Saturday they had a pleasant little chat to some pur ose while enjoying the hospitality of Mr. Russell age. Mr. Sage told these gentlemen that some thing had to be done to hold up the market and put the bears to flight. He showed them dispatches from London declaring that there is plenty of money there ready for investment in American bonds and dividend-paying stocks as soon as the parket assumed steadiness. Mr. Vande, bilt and Mr. Gould were enthusiastic over plans proposed by Mr. Sage, and before they parted they had struck hands in solemn compact to go in and support the market, each man to stand by his own line. These are the statements of operator who say they know precisely whereof they speakoperators who have money to make in impressing uch statements upon the public. Mr. Sage says Mr Gould has recently proved himself a regular hero and has entered into this coalition with Mr. Vanderbilt not so much to help himself as to save and protect innocent holders of stocks who have been seriously hurt by the hear raids Mr Sage says urther that the Gould-Vanderbilt combination is sure to carry everything before it. It was stated in he street that hereafter every purchaser of a thousand Western Union or Missouri Pacific was to be resented with a beautifully illuminated card entitling the holder to a ride behind Mand S -all to prove that the Gould-Vanderbilt copartnership is o empty and meaningless affair. Mr. Jay Gould posed in a new attitude yesterday.

Strange stories had reached his ears to the effect that wicked men had declared him a deceiver. Mr. Gould could not tamely submit to such vilainous defamation. It had been asserted that Mr. Gould, while openly a rampant bull, was secretly unloading upon his over-trustful following. The story was ridiculous. No one who Gould and fully appreciates the great man's philanthropy could be guilty of giving ear to so preposterous a tale. But Mr. Gould was not happy. He was determined to put his foot down once and for all upon the sinful slanders. In addition to the malicious story that he had been playing something else than the fairest game was the vile insinuation that bankruptey was not far distant. Mr. Gould has been much agitated by these reflections. He called upon Mr. Russell Fage for counsel Saturday. Mr. Gould thought it would be an excellent idea to heap his realth in one pile on his office table and exhibit the same to the presidents of the Union, the United States, and the Central trust companies, asking as a favor that the presidents confidentially describe to Wall street the sights their eyes should fea st upon Mr. Russell Sage did not take any stock in this idea But Mr. Gould grimly insisted that something had to be done. Just what that something would be was not then decided. It is seldom that Jay Gould uns counter to the counsels of Russell Sage. But he had the Sabbath for quiet thought, and he was not idle. Yesterday morning when Mr. Sage dropped off the elevated train at Rector street he found a message awaiting him. That message urgently besought him to huzzy into Mr. Jay Gould's private office. Mr. Sage went. In the private office e found Mr. Jay Gould, with Frank Work upon one side and Cyrus W. Field upon the other. There was agitation on each face; likewise determination was there; it was evident that the trio were ready for something desperate. "Oh, my dear Sage," said Mr. Jay Gould, " are going to nail all these lies which wicked men have told about me. We will show the public that 've not been selling my stocks, that I've got them et, and that I'm not going to break at all, I ain't." Mr. Frank Work and Mr. Cyrus W. Field ap-

"Humph!" said Mr. Russell Sage. "Morisini, come here," shouted Mr. Gould to his elerk in the next room. "Come here, Morismi, and ring in my stocks." Mr. Morisini obeyed. Bending under his burden, e entered, with big tin boxes and small tin boxes, big leather sachels and small leather sachels, big indles and small bundles innumerable. "There, gentlemen," remarked Mr. Gould, "there re my stocks. Does that look as though I had been selling? Does that look as though I was on the erge of bankruptcy? Open the boxes, until the bundles," said Mr. Gould to Mr. Morisini. "I want ou to examine for yourselves, gentlemen; exam-ne for yourselves, gentlemen. "Oh, of course, we don't doubt what you say." smiled Mr. Cyrus W. Field. "I guess you'd better throw the paper out on the table," interposed Mr. Russell Sage. "Seeing is be lieving, you know, now-adays." Morisini opened his satchels and bundles and boxes. He heaped the little table high with parchment, and the rich men of the street looked on Satisfaction gleamed from every eye. The clerk. ander their supervision, picked up the certificates one by one, and with pencil memoranda Mr. Sage, and Mr. Work, and Mr. Field, and Mr. Gould calculated the values spread before them.

"Gentlemen, there is $53,000,000 in round numbers," said Mr. Gould. He was estimating his stocks at par. Western Union was the largest holdng; he showed $23,000,000 of it. Of Missouri Pa-life he exhibited $12,000,000; of Mahattan elevated. $6,000,000; of Wabash common, $2,000,000; and $10,000,000 was distributed in New York and Metrocolitan elevated and in Wahash preferred

"You see, gentlemen," pointed out Mr. Gould, "these stocks are just as they were issued to me. I have never transferred them to anybody. You see every one is unsigned. Now, any honest man can see that this proves that I haven't been selling and that I am innocent of everything that is bad."

All the gentlemen present assented, and as soon departed Wall-street was deluged with stories of what had been seen in Mr. Gould's little private office. The description of that table piled high with parchment was the basis for a bull war cry the whole day through. Mr. Gould's "unsigned stock" was discussed in animated accents where all other subjects were passed by without a word. Rude operators were inclined to joke about the matter. Mr. Gould's enemies declared his exhibition a confession of weakness. Some over-inquisi tive persons wanted to know what had become of he great man's holdings in his Union Pacific, his Wisconsin, Kansas and Texas, his Texas Pacific, Jersey Central, Lackawanna, and the long list of additional enterprises into which he has invited a onfiding public. Other bad men asked for evidence that the stocks shown really belonged to ould; some brokers asked how large a proportion had been sold, and wanted to know if it was all Mr. Gould's own property; while other skepties, more evil-minded than they should be, made strange inquiries about the "old printing press," renowned in Gould-Erie days.

Mr. Gould's friends declared that the $53,000,000 of securities which were shown did not by any means represent Mr. Gould's entire holdings. They eredit him with unnamed millions in bonds, One story told on the street was that Mr. Morisini wanted to know if he should bring out those bonds, sighing as if in fear of over-exertion. "I will have to hire two trucks to carry them." He was not put to the rouble.

When Mr. Cammack heard of Mr. Gould's exhibi ion, he is said to have started up, grasped his hair. and cried: "My heavens, just think of it: $23,000, 000 Western Union, $12,000,000 Missouri Pacific! Phew! And every share of it to be sold yet. How things are going to quake. How glad I am it's Jay Gould and not me."

WEAVING THE WEB.

Boston Transcript, "This morn I will weave my web," she said,
As she stood by her loom in the rosy light,
And her young eyes, hopefully glad and clear,
Followed afar the swallow's flight.
"As soon as 'he day's first tasks are done, While yet I am fresh and strong," said she,
'I will hasten to weave the beautiful web
Whose pattern is known to none but me.

"I will weave it fine, I will weave it fair,
And ah! how the colors will glow!" she said;
"So tadeless and strong will I weave my web
That perhaps it will live after I am dead."
But the morning hours sped on apace,
The air grew sweet with the breath of June;
And young Love hid by the waiting loom,
Tangling the threads as he hummed a tune.

Ah! life is so rich and full," she cried, And morn is short, though the days are long? This noon I will weave my beautiful web, I will weave it carefully, fine and strong: But the sun rode high in the cloudless sky; The burden and heat of the day she bore; And hither and thither she came and went, While the loom stood still as it stood before.

"Ah! life is too busy at noon," she said;
"My web must wait till the eventide,
I'll the common work of the day is done,
And my heart grows calm in the silence wide!"
So, one by one, the hours pass on,
I'll the creeping shadows had longer grown;
I'll the house was still, and the breezes sleet,
And the singing birds to their nests had flown. 'And now I will weave my web," she said, As she turned to her loom ere set of sun, and laid her hand on the shining threads To set themrin order, one by one. To set thenrin order, one by one. ut hand was tired, and heart was weak;

"I am not as strong as I was," sighed she,
'And the pattern is blurred, and the colors rare
Are not so bright, or so fair to see!" "I must wait, I think, till another morn;
I must go to my rest with my work undone.
It is growing too dark to weave!" she erled,
As lower and lower sank the sun.
She dropped the shuttle; the loom stood still;
The weaver slept in the twilight gray.
Dear heart! Will she weave her beautiful web
In the golden light of a longer day?

How Mississippi has been Redistricted-Causes Dissension—The Georgia Congressmen-Senator Lamar—Mr. Hammond and the Chouteau Claims—Senator Brown's Dinner.

Washington, March 13.—[Special correspondence.]—Mississippi has done what some of the papers are anxious for Georgia to do. Like Georgia, she gained a member of congress, and the legislature has gone through the task of redistricting the state. The art of gerrymandering has been well understood in Mississippi for a long time, one of its great achievements being the "shoe-string district." But gerrymandering for party profit is defensible under modern political ethics. It is not that of which complaint is made in this instance. In the legislature are aspiring men, and they have sliced up the state greatly to the disadvantage of some members of the present Mississippi delegation. The congressmen from that state are loudly protesting against such strategy. Mr. Singleton and General Hooker have been thrown into the same district, and three of Singleton's

ARE THE FARMERS THAT RAISE CORN AND MEAT.

A New Last of "Corn Easiers"—" Full Orite, Fabrock, Happy we sand Rooping Children"— That is the Lot of Man Wao Bakes Their Own Supplies and Barn Success.

We select this morning at random from a huge bundle of letters on the prosperous farmers of Georgia, a batch that emphasize the story repeated in our columns week after week.

Week.

There is but one answer to our question—" There is but one answer to our district of the corn-raisers alone are prosperous. Every man who plants cotton are properous Every man who plants cotton are properous. Every man who plants cotton are prosperous. Every man who plants cotton are prosperous to the prosperous every ago." Ther mention over the county farm on he diversifying system and raise a surples of wheat, oat, corn and bacon to sell, outside of ther cotton. They are all out of debt—pay as they go—and I presume are making money. A man is considered out of luck in this country who raises all cotton and depends upon buying his supplies, and I suppose we could compare favorably an average yield of cotton per acre with any county in the state. I myself run a four thorse farm, I have clover and grass enough sown to supply my stock with good summer pastures and plenty of hay for winter use. I generally keep a good stock of hogs, and try to plant each year about the same in wheat, oats, corn and cotton (changing my crops in order to rest my land). I make from 15 to 20 bales of cotton every year, and as a general thing supply the hands on the place with all the provisions hey use, and have never yet failed to have a small surplus of wheat, oats, corn and bacon to sell. And whenever I do fail to make all I use on the place, outside of my cotton crop, I will change my occupation. Respectfully.

A GOOD LIST FROM BURKE.

HERNDON, Ga., March 16.—Messrs, Editors Atlanta constitution; We have many planters and farmers in old Burke who make most of their supplies, and maddutiffs and all food for work animals, and many make all their living at home. Some names breadstulis and all food for work animals, and many make all their living at home. Some names I give you below, who are unpretending farmers, and deemed thrifty and prosperous.

Any man who lived here twenty years ago, engaged in agriculture, can but contrast the lamentable dependence of many of our working peoplethe want of food for man and beast, with that fatness and plenty that crowned the land then—which surprised the invading army of General Sherman and caused him to remark that he had destroyed provisions enough in a sier of three counties to have fed General Lee's army twelve months. He found fat hogs, cattle and sheep, more than his army could waste and destroy and leave in piles to decay. Adam Brinson, Alexander Lively, B W Whitfield. TA Burton. Robt Burton, R Reeves, R Cross, B Herriugton, J W Bell, I D Perry, John C Carpenter, Simeon Reeves, Rily Reeves, F U Burton, C T Herrington, Colored—Dan Johnson, Milege Bradley, Horace Post, Anderson Brooks, Washington Josephs.

d rington. Colored—Dan Johnson, Millege Bradley, Horace Post, Anderson Brooks, Washington Josephs, W. B. Jones, L. B. Heard, A. J. Clevelland, H. P. Dendwyley and M. C. Seymore. Those gentlemen have been successful, from the fact that they generally raise their own supples, and very often more than enough to run their farms. They often more than enough to run their farms. They also make fase crops of cotton, but this is secondary. Respectfully yours, G. Ersskins Hazard, Whitlock, address Milford, Baker county, E. C. Jones, R. B. Odoxa, J. O. Perry, address, Newton, Baker county, are an ong the most successful of our farmers. It is almost needless that I add that they raise their own supplies, for I know of not a single farmer who is an "all cotton planter" who is not poorer than he was ten years ago; not one that mises his own supplies and pays cash for his goods, but is at least holding his own, and generally prospering.

Our farmers have been brayed in the matter of adversity for fifteen years, and are as big fools as ever, I think "Ephraim is joined to his fold" (cotton), but dicted in Minneapolis for bigamy and per-jury, and that a number of his witnesses in the divorce case will be prosecuted for conspiracy.

A SHOEMAKER'S TALE Me Attributes a Paralytic Cure to Divine Power. Philadelphia Record.

That the day of miracles is not past is firm-y believed by S. F. Delavan, of No. 542 silli-nan street, West Philadelphia. Once he was man street, West Philadelphia. Once he was helpless, so badly afflicted with paralysis that his death was expected at any time, but now he is able to waik to church and tell the congregation of his wonderful cure that came upon him in a moment and directly, so he declares, by the hand of God. Delavan is a shoemaker by trade, and eight years ago was smitten with paralysis. The right side was first affected, and for six years the lower limbs were partially helpless. He was able to walk with the help of crutches, and being an Odd Fellow and a member of the Order of American Mechanics, drew relief from those sociecan Mechanics, drew relief from those socie-ties. About a year and a half ago the affec-tion of the lower limbs became complete, without sensation, and from that time he was hopeless.

Last evening Mr. Delavan attended service at the Christian Mission, Forry-first and Market streets, and related the circumstances of his cure. In his own words: "On the night his cure. In his own words: "On the night of February 8 last the pain in my side was unusually acute, and it was midnight before the powerful doses of opiates that had been administered could put me to sleep. I was aroused out of a sound slumber by a voice that said distinctly: "Why not trust in God?" I was startled. The voice had a strange, supernatural tone, and at first I thought I had been dreaming. I raised up in my bed, the first time, I had been able to bend my back without help in eighteen months. Again first time. I had been able to bend my back without help in eighteen months. Again the same voice spoke: 'Can you trust God?' I looked around in amazement. There was not a person in the room save my wife, and she was sleeping soundly on an adjoining cot. The voice did not come from a human throat, for there was no one in the house to speak. Besides, it had a heavenly ring and was as sweet as an angel's tone. A third time I heard it, and by this time I was wide awake and in full possession of my senses. I could feel the Divine presence and distinctly the words fell upon my ears: 'Will you trust God and He will heal you?' I could resist the influence no longer, and with the Spirit moving me I said: 'Yes, Lord! I will trust Thee.' As the words fell from my lips a wild sensation ran down my back. It felt like a shock of electricity, only so much lips a wild sensation ran down my back. It felt like a shock of electricity, only so much gentler and sweeter. It felt like new life, and my spinal column was invigorated. When I lay down there was feeling in my lower limbs. I could twist my ankle and draw up limbs. I could twist my ankle and draw up my knee, and in the morning was able to kneel beside my bed and give thanks for my recovery. Strength soon returned, and in a few days I was able to walk."

Delavan is fervent in his belief that his cure was a miracle, and expresses himself as willing to speak at religious meetings in testimony of his relief. He says he is not anxious for notoriety, and is impelled by different reasons for speaking on the subject. He has been a member of the Methodist church for year, with propitious seasons, will find our county in a much better condition than for many years.

NOTICE.

HAVE THIS DAY SOLD MY LIVERY, SALE and feed stable business, on Loyd street, to Messrs, John A. Miller, of Kentucky, and T. B. Brady, of Georgia, who will continue the business at the same stand. The new firm are energetic, enterprising and courteous gentlemen, and have had large experience in the handling of stock, both in Georgia and in the "blue grass region" of Kentucky; and it affords me pleasure to recommend them to the public. Thanking my patrons for their past liberal patronage, i respectfully ask a continuance of it for the new firm.

Hereafter I will devote my entire time and attention to my undertaking business at the same stand as at present, retaining the service of Mr. H. M. Patterson as undertaker, and Mr. Mike Rowdin, assistant—interested in the same, and will enlarge and increase our facilities for serving patrons.

THE COTTON MARKET

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, Atlanta, March 16, 1882 New York-The general appearance of the market denotes considerable improvement, and, as predicted, prices moved upwards under a firm tone. At the opening futures ruled firm and steady with quotations a few points higher, but during the morning nothing of importance occurred. Early in the afternoon a strong tone prevailed which ca. ried the months a fraction higher. Subsequently a steady feeling prevailed which continued unchanged up to the close, leaving quotations some 5 @10 points above yesterday's close. Sales were more liberal than for several days past, and at times speculation became enthusiastic. The spot market indicates a healthy tone, and an advance of 1-16c was quotable at the close; middling 12 3-16c.

Net receipts for five days 44,699 bales, again 89,825 bales last year: exports 68,195 bales; last year 124.325 bales: stock 931,255 bales; last year 858,338

THE GREAT SCIENTIFIC PREPARATION

Will positively cure old chronic cases of Dyspeptic Consumption, where every other known medicane has failed to even give relief. I refer to a few of the cases pronounced incurable that have been cured with APEPSIA; Miss Katie Hoffman, 872 Randolph street. Philadelphia, was a case of dyspeptic consumption; had not been out of her house for one year, or her room for six months; a living skeleton, given up to die by our most eminent physicians, but cured with four bottles of Apepsia. Matthew Robinson, No. 303 21st street, Philadelphia, This was a very dangerous case of dyspeptic vertigo of iong standing, but cured with only two bottles of Apepsia. Mr. H. A. Clark, firm Clark Bros. & Co., Philadelphia, was an old chronic case of twenty years standing; paid out one thousand dollars; was pronounced incurable; but cured with three bottles of Apepsia: been well over one year. Thousands of similar testimonials can be seen at our office. I refer with pleasure to the following gentlemen of Savannah, whose characters are irreproachable: Dr. J. R. Haltiwanger, Clarence S. Connerat, Captain George M. Weymouth, Price §1 per bottle. For sale by LAMAR, RANKIN & LAMAR and all retail druggists.

The Barracks Property,

"Mr. James, is there anything in the statement that the owners of the old barracks property will offer twelve acres to the state as a site for the proposed new capitol?" asked a CONSTITUTION reporter of Mr. John H. James, "We were thinking of it," replied Mr. James, "but as the legislature will not meet for some time we cannot afford to wait. We have the ground laid off into plats and may sell it and have it built up into a nice little town long before the legislature convenes.

Padiatricting the State.

Redistricting the State.
Attorney-General Anderson has been in Macon since last Saturday, but will return to Atlanta to-day. The opinion which he gave Governor Colquitt in relation to redistricting the state and upon which the governor acted, was a verbal one and was given with the understanding that a written opinion would soon follow. The attorney general will perphalby derstanding that a written opinion would soon follow. The attorney general will probably have an elaborate opinion ready in a few days, and when he does so The Constitution will give its readers the benefit of it and they will see the readons which the attorney general advanced against the necessity for an extra session of the legislature.

THE GREAT SEAL,

What It is and What It is Used For. A correspondent of The Constitution writes to ask what the great seal of the state is, and what it is used for.

The great seal of the state is a monster affair and is kept in the office of the secretary affair and is kept in the office of the secretary of state. Contrary to the opinion of most people, it does not make an impression directly upon paper as ordinary seals do. The seal now used by Colonel Barnett, secretary of state, was made during the Bullock administration, but is a counterpart of the one adopted in 1799, but now worn out. It is a ponderous concern. The screw which furnishes the power that makes the impression is about an inch and a half in diameter. The seal on the face presents the coat of arms of the state above which are the words—"State of Georgia," and under the coat of arms is the date "1799," the year in which the design was adopted. On the reverse side is a scene emblematic of agriculture and commerce, with an appropriate wording. The seal is used only in making seals to be attached to commissions of members of contached to commissions of members of congress, state house officers—except the governor, who has no commission—judges of the gress, state house officers—except the governor, who has no commission—judges of the superior and supreme courts, commissioners of deeds in other states, on original land grants, requisitions and testimonials. The making of ascal is an interesting process. A piece of ordinary beeswax is put into the press and compressed into the closest space. It is then taken out and cut into a reund piece about two inches across—the size of the seal. The impression plates, which are of silver, are then put into position and the piece of wax with a piece of gilt paper on each side is put into position in the press. The pieces of gilt paper are covered with mucilage on the side next the wax. The ribbon, generally blue; which is to connect the sheets is run in between the wax and the gilt paper—an end on each side. The seal is then put into the press and the impression made, and when it is taken out the seal hangs as a pendant from the document which bears it.

THE BURNED DISTRICT.

What is to Be Done Toward Rebuilding It.

The ruins left by the late fire at the corner of Alabama and Pryor are still odorous and can be scented from afar. The work of clearing away the debris goes on rather slowly for Atlanta, but it is presumable that in a few weeks, when the weather is suitable, the work will be commenced in earnest, and pushed rapidly forward. The ground is too valuable to lie idle and without an exception, almost, larger and better buildings will be erected than those were that were burned. Governor Brown will spend about forty thousand dollars on the building which he will erect upon the spot where the Block candy factory was burned. Colonel Wilson will rebuild the Wilson house and will spend about thirty-five thousand. Captain Jackson will probably spend from twenty-five to thirty thousand. These buildings will occupy the corner lots and will be more handsome than the ones that were burned were two story structures, but will be replaced quickly when the weather becomes settled. The building which was owned by Mrs. Kenney is already being replaced by a new What is to Be Done Toward Rebuilding It.

one and it is probable that before it is completed work will be commenced on all the others. The amount which will be expended can be safely put down at not less than a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. This added to the amount which will be expended in rebuilding the burned district on Whitehall street will make a considerable item for Atlanta contractors. In the meantime building generally promises to be as lively as ever. One of the great troubles in the way is the enormous prices at which building material is held. Yesterday a gentleman who contemplates an expenditure of more than thirty thousand dollars, said to a Constitution reporter:

ture of more than thirty thousand dollars, said to a Constitution reporter:

"There can be no doubt that the present price of building material keeps a great many persons from building houses. I am thinking of building a house that will cost me from thirty to forty thousand dollars, and in order to do so I will be forced to pay ten dollars a thousand for brick such as a few years ago—as late as 1876

—I bought and had laid for less than that amount. The bricks in the walls cost me only nine dollars a thousand. It is true also that the expense of making brick is no greater now the expense of making brick is no greater now than it was then. We need competition in brick making."

The motion prevailed and Major Maddox assumed the chair and returned thanks. Mr. J. D. Turner was, upon motion, made temporary secretary. After the meeting was declared organized and ready for business, Mr. G. W. Parrott moved that a committee composed of three members be appointed to take into consideration a permanent organization.

The motion prevailed and the chairman named Messrs. J. F. Cummings, Captain Langston and H. T. Inman as that committee. The chairman was, upon motion, added to that committee. Mr. Harle addressed the meeting, urging the organization of a cotton exchange. He then moved that a committee be appointed to confer with the Atlanta board of trade relative to the use of their chamber. The motion prevailed, and the chairman named as that committee Messrs. J. W. Harle, H. H. Starr, W. P. Inman and Smith. Upon motion the chairman was added to the committee also.
